Bill from recoveryafterstroke.com and today in Australia it's Easter Saturday if you're celebrating Happy Easter, most of the people in Australia are having a wonderful four-day long weekend and so am I. So I wanted to have this opportunity to send you a quick message and let you know that the recovery after stroke membership is now live.

This has been a long time in the making, and only because I fail to realize actually how much work and effort goes into creating one of these online communities. And I've had a lot of amazing responses from the people who follow my posts, my videos and the podcast. And one of the things that I kept getting was people trying to connect in different ways and not really knowing how to people that needed help, wanted to ask questions and wanted to be guided, but I didn't really have an offering.

I didn't really have something there for them. So now what I've arranged is for a members only section of the website, which enables you to get coached by me one on one. Now, that also enables you to get access to live monthly trainings all around topics that support recovery after stroke, you'll be able to access the community as it grows and the members increase, you'll be able to access each other and support each other and help each other and you'll be able to access posts that I create, usually on a daily but most of the time three or four times a week basis.

So that you can get more information about the latest technologies efforts, and what the research is showing about how to heal the brain and how to support recovery after stroke. So I have opened the membership to the first five people at $149 for 12 months. That $149 will not increase for you in the coming years.

Bill 2:04
So if you become a member and you join in 12 months time, you will not increase the cost of that membership for as long as you remain a member. In that $149 you'll have full access to the online community, you'll have full access to the monthly trainings, you'll have full access to myself via a private coaching forum where you can send a question and I can respond to you, I'll usually respond within about 12 to 24 hours and help guide you along the path that you want to go to find a way to support your recovery.

Now I'm really interested in supporting people who are going to take responsibility for their recovery, at $149. That price can't last there will only ever be 20 memberships offered at $149. And the first five are going to be available now once the first five go, I'll bring those new members into the community. We'll get started and then I'll open it up to the next 15 at the end of the 20 members once 20 members sign up, then the offering will increase in price to $199.

So, if you are one of the people who has been waiting for me to get this up and running thank you for being so patient and waiting. And please click the link below or above depending on which social media format you're watching this and go ahead and join up and become a member. I look forward to hearing from you
